ASPR Launches Groundbreaking AI Sales Analyst Platform at Web Summit Vancouver—Early Adopters Offered Exclusive Access

Vancouver, BC – May 2025 – ASPR, a leading innovator in sales automation, is proud to announce the official launch of its AI-powered Sales Analyst Agent platform at Web Summit Vancouver. ASPR's platform is designed to empower sales teams with cutting-edge automation, driving personalized insights, efficiency, and revenue growth.

As part of the Web Summit launch, ASPR offers summit attendees exclusive early access—free for a limited time—enabling early adopters to accelerate revenue growth by 10% or more within 60 days of implementation. Attendees can experience hands-on demos, receive personalized onboarding, and access powerful sales automation tools previously available only to select enterprise partners.

"We're excited to introduce ASPR to the world at Web Summit Vancouver and to empower sales organizations to reach new heights," said Ganesh Iyer, Founder & CEO of ASPR. "Early users will not only gain a competitive edge, but also help shape the future of AI-powered sales."

Key Highlights:

- Official debut of the ASPR AI Sales Analyst Agent platform at Web Summit Vancouver

- Exclusive free access for early adopters attending the summit

- Proven results: 10%+ revenue growth and significant productivity gains within 60 days

- Live demos and personalized onboarding are available at the event.

About ASPR AI Inc.:
ASPR AI is a pioneering sales technology company that delivers multi-tool agent AI solutions that streamline workflows, automate routine tasks, and drive real sales results.

For media inquiries, please contact:
ASPR AI Marketing Team

info@aspr.ai
https://aspr.ai/